W. H. Taft. J. S. Sherman.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.
FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
JAMES S. SHERMAN.

If the business men of the South would vote as they think there would be no solid South.—Binghamton Republican.

"You cannot make converts to Free-Trade in cities black with the smoke of fires that would never have been lighted except for a Tariff," said David B. Hill.

The next time you hear W. J. Bryan preaching about the love of the Savior ask him how the Savior would have treated Champ Clark.—Carlisle Mercury.

Really, now, when you get right down to the bottom of things, isn't it the man who can raise the most money who has the best chance in a direct primary?

Reduce or remove the duty on sugar, combined capital will then control the sugar market of the world and the price will advance.—Wolfeboro (N. H.) News.

The Democratic idea of Tariff legislation is that it pays to throw a man out of work in order to buy what he produces a few cents cheaper.—Bristol (Pa.) Courier.

With nearly $100,000,000 in the cash drawer of the United States Treasury officials are of the belief that it will not be necessary to issue bonds for construction work on the Panama Canal for nearly a year.

There were 1,359 strikes reported from October 1st, 1910, to September 30th, 1911, involving directly 170,526 workers, at a cost for relief of $4,882,852. It is estimated that the total cost of these strikes to all the interests involved will not fall short of $25,000,000.

"We stand not for the abuses of the Tariff, but for its beneficent uses," declared Secretary Root. It would be difficult to frame words into a more felicitous stating of the true Republican doctrine concerning the great system of Protection of American industry and American labor.

The Democrats and the Roosevelt men are circulating the most absurd canards about Taft pulling off the ticket. Taft will remain the nominee of the Republican party if he only gets one vote, and he is certain of at least one vote that we know of—the editor of THE PUBLIC LEDGER.

Roosevelt is playing his last bluff, that of trying to force Taft to withdraw as the Republican nominee. Nobody but a dampfool will pay any serious attention to these rumors. What would the National Committee and the 561 delegates who nominated Taft, think if he should withdraw, and what would anybody think if he should drop out of the presidential race, and leave the field to Wilson? The battle is on between Taft and Wilson and the best man will win.

In a recent decision, the United States Supreme Court held that the authority of the Commerce Court, created two years ago, is limited to questions of law; that the Interstate Commerce Commission has exclusive jurisdiction over Federal rate acts, and that the Commerce Court cannot nullify its decisions upon questions of fact.

Consul George Gifford reports that the women and girls employed in the manufacture of underwear and waists in the Basle district of Switzerland work 10 to 10½ hours a day and earn, according to their experience and capacity, 50 cents to $1, the latter sum being paid only to a few persons of exceptional skill capable of directing the business.

The Democrats always proceed on the theory that the American producer is a robber and the foreign producer a philanthropist. The indisputable facts are that whether it be a reduction of Tariff duties on hides, on lumber, on shoes, on glass on coffee or any other thing, the foreigner invariably stiffens his price, and between him and the importers the consumer gets no benefit whatever.—Webster (South Dakota) World.

The "reformers" in Oregon have a new scheme of Government. Instead of electing a number of State officers they now propose the creation of a Governor's Cabinet, which would consist of such officials as the State Treasurer, Secretary of State, Attorney-General, Superintendent of Public Instruction and Labor Commissioner, who would be appointive rather than elective. The Senate branch of the Legislature is to be dispensed with and the Governor is to be given a seat in the single chamber, and that functionary would also be invested with the power to control District Attorneys, Sheriff's and all administrative boards and commissions, which would be appointed and answerable to him, which means that they are going to swing over from the ultra-democratic idea of selecting every official from President to poundkeeper by direct vote to that of extreme centralization of authority in the hands of a single trusted individual.

The advocates of tariff reduction have received an accession from unexpected quarters. The merchants and manufacturers of France are not responding with enthusiasm to the invitation to send exhibits to the Panama-Pacific Exhibition. The reason which they give is that the American tariff shuts out French goods, and they claim that it ought to be reduced. If the question of tariff revision could be referred to our European competitors the vote in favor of lower duties would be unanimous. Fortunately Americans have been wise enough, usually, to frame our tariff laws to benefit American business, not foreign business. The policy of protection has been good for the United States in the past. It is good for us today and it will continue to be the wisest system for the country. The combination of free traders and foreign producers should not be allowed to overthrow protection and destroy our industries.

THE FEMININE IDEA.

Senator Williams, at a dinner in Yazoo, said in commendation of a mooted tariff change: "They who advocate this change know just as much about the tariff as the old lady knew about fire insurance." "This old lady visited an insurance office, and insured her barn for $3,500. The policy was drawn up, signed and sealed and handed over to her, and she put it in her cabinet and started out." "But hold on, ma'am," said the agent. "I must ask you, please, for the first year's premium." "The first year's premium?" said she. "And how much will that be?" "There it is, ma'am, written on the policy," said the agent. "A small matter of $24." "Oh," said the old lady, "I'm in a hurry this morning. You just let the premiums stand and deduct them when the barn burns down."

FACTS COUNT! Hot Air is Cheap!

Newspaper advertising costs money. Therefore we believe in stating facts in our advertising space instead of wasting it on hot air. John Zubly, the American Patriot Who Turned Traitor

A REPUBLIC is a little better than a government of devils! "So declared John Joachim Zubly, a man on whom our country had relied, and whom the Revolutionists had trusted. He was a patriot who suddenly turned traitor at a time when America and liberty needed every true man's aid. The colonies had long groaned under British oppression. When they rose against England, in 1776, it was less with an idea of breaking loose from the mother country than of showing resentment by force of arms where argument and appeal had failed. They simply wished to bring England to her senses and to obtain relief from injustice. Even George Washington in later years confessed: "The idea of independence was at first abhorrent to me." But soon he and all the rest of the patriots realized that the time for half-way measures had passed. There must be either dumb submission or open defiance. And, should they choose defiance, they must free the colonies wholly from the British yoke and declare our country free and independent.

It was to discuss this that the continental congress met at Philadelphia in 1776. We are apt to think that congress was a collection of ardent patriots, panting for liberty at any price. This was not wholly true. While the majority of the delegates were firm in their resolve to declare for independence, several of them threatened to balk at so rash a step. Nor can they be severely blamed for hesitating. They were men of property and importance. They had more to lose than had most Americans. Should the Revolution fail their goods would doubtless be seized by the British government and they themselves would be hanged. As Benjamin Franklin said, in grim jest: "We must hang together or we'll hang separately!" But, to their eternal credit, these wary delegates at last yielded to the popular voice. The Declaration of Independence was drawn up, and on July 4, 1776, was adopted (although it was not signed until the next month). The grave step was taken. The congressmen stood committed. The had "crossed the Rubicon" and were ready to take the consequences. There was one exception to this band of patriots. He was John Joachim Zubly, a Swiss, who had emigrated to America in early life and had settled in Georgia. Zubly was not only prominent as a scholar and a statesman, but was a preacher as well. He had shown great indignation at the colonists' wrongs and had both written and spoken in protest against tyranny.

So patriotic was he that Georgia chose him as one of its five delegates to congress in 1775. There he worked hard for the people's cause and even drew up a petition to King George III "upon the present unhappy situation of affairs." Altogether, he was looked upon as an ardent patriot. Indeed it is hard to understand the sudden and terrible change in the man. As soon as Zubly found congress was determined to adopt the Declaration, he fought the proposition most bitterly and utterly refused any part in it. He denounced the idea of a republic and did everything in his power to stem the tide of opinion. Had this been all he did no great shame need to have been attached to him. But he was not content with refusing to vote for the Declaration. He actually entered into secret correspondence with the enemy, betraying to the British the patriots' private plans and giving warning that the Declaration was about to be adopted. What further harm he might have done the cause of liberty cannot be guessed, for a fellow congressman (Samuel Chase of Maryland) found reason to suspect him. A treasonable letter from Zubly was intercepted. Chase exposed the man's whole black treachery to congress.

Zubly fled in hot haste from Philadelphia to escape punishment. He went at once to Georgia. There, utterly casting away his cloak of patriotism, he sided openly with America's foes. For this he was banished from Georgia and half of his property was declared forfeit. He rushed to the British for protection. After a few years of misery and disgrace he died, in 1781, with the Revolutionary war was still at its height.

OUR WEEKLY SPORT LETTER

BY C. H. TUBER.

CINCINNATI, O., July 10th, 1912.

Now that the wonderful winning streak of Rube Marquard of the New York Giants has been broken, after a string of nineteen consecutive victories, the Cubs, Pirates and Reds are looking forward to a further decrease in the efficiency of McGraw's men, and a consequent increase in the prospects of the other first division teams for overtaking the Gothamites. Marquard's record undoubtedly is the greatest ever made by a pitcher, period and general conditions considered. There are several instances where a greater number of victories have been chalked up for a twirler, but in the days when these records were established scientific batting had not reached its present advanced stage, nor were pitchers compelled to fight the ball as great a distance as under existing rules, the former marks being set with the twirlers but 45 feet from the batter. While Marquard's record was made at 60 feet pitching distance. There are many observations by critics to the effect that the Rube was extremely lucky in some of the games he won, while in others he pitched but a few innings. However that may be, he has performed wonderfully, and deserves all the credit it is possible to give him.

No new player in the National League this year has attracted as much attention from the general baseball public as Armando Marsans, the clever utility man of the Cincinnati team. If there is a weakness to Marsans' playing it has not yet been discovered. His hitting is considerable over the 300 mark; his base running is second only to that of Bob Beecher; he fields wonderfully; his strength and accuracy as a thrower are hardly surpassed in either of the big leagues together, while in the matter of intelligence and enthusiasm he displays brands that are revelations. When Marsans was purchased by the Cincinnati Club it was sort of a second choice to Almeida, the clever third baseman. Here was another case of Geler and Lajole of years ago. The Philadelphia club was anxious to buy Geler from Woonesocket, and took Lajole as a good measure. Before long it developed that Lajole was a much greater player than Geler—and has been a wonder ever since. The case is slightly different with Almeida and Marsans in that Almeida also looks as good that he will be back with the Reds in the fall.

The eastern teams seem to be showing better form on their present tour of the West than they did when they made their first invasion of these parts in May. Brooklyn and Philadelphia in particular are playing harder games, both these teams claiming to enjoy good prospects of landing in the first division. This is due by the teams now occupying berths in the first section, the Reds being particularly vehement in declaring that from now on they are going forward instead of backward. The addition of Davis, the star twirler of the Knoxville team, and a youngster by the name of Brown from Oxford, O., is believed to have strengthened the twirling department considerably. The Reds will be at home for about two weeks more, still having games with Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Boston and New York. The Phillies are the attraction for next Sunday, July 14th, while the Giants open here on Sunday, July 21st.

The defeat of Jim Flynn by Jack Johnson on the fourth of July caused no surprise, but Why Women Are Not RICH.

Man is a millionaire many times over in the possession of blood cells. Woman is not quite so rich, for scientific tests have proven that the normal man has five million—the woman only four and a half million to a cubic millimeter of blood. A decrease in number of red blood corpuscles and a person "looks pale"—in fact, is anemic, the blood does not get the right food and probably the stomach is disordered. Dr. R. V. Pierce found years ago that a glyceric extract of golden seal and Oregon grape roots, queen's root and bloodroot with black cherry bark, would help the assimilation of the food in the stomach, correct liver ills and in Nature's own way increase the red blood corpuscles. This medicine he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. By assimilating the food eaten the system is nourished and the blood takes on a rich red color. Nervousness is only "the cry of the starved nerves for food," and when the nerves are fed on rich red blood the person loses those irritable feelings, sleeps well at night and is refreshed in the morning. "I was attacked with a severe nervous disease, which was caused by a disordered stomach and liver," writes Mr. J. D. Lively, of Washington, Tenn., June 2, 1912. "All my friends thought I would die and the best physicians gave me up. I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and derived much benefit from same. My case had run so long, it had become so chronic that nothing would effect a permanent cure, but Dr. Pierce's medicine has done much for me and I highly recommend it. I heartily advise its use as a spring tonic, and further advice will be given by Dr. Pierce's medicine before their disease has run so long that there is no chance to be cured. STIMSON APPROVES NEW BILL

A substitute for the militia pay bill has been submitted to Secretary Stimson and has secured his approval. The pay of officers of the militia in this bill is a percentage of that of officers of like grade in the regular army, not including longevity pay, as follows: Five per cent. to all general officers commanding a division or brigade, including authorized officers detailed for duty therewith, the division and brigade inspectors of small arms practice, if any, the authorized aide chaplains; 20 per cent. to commanding officers of companies, troops, battalions and ambulance companies and to adjutants and quartermasters of regiments, independent battalions, squadrons and const artillery districts, including medical officers doing duty or assigned to regiments or smaller tactical units or const artillery districts, medical officers serving with field hospitals and veterinarians. The enlisted men, it is provided, shall receive compensation at the same rate as the enlisted man of the corresponding grade of the regular army at the rate of 25 per cent. of the initial pay now provided by law for enlisted men of corresponding grade of the regular army, provided no soldier shall have attended not less than 45 regular drills during one year and a proportionate amount for attendance upon a lesser number of such drills not less than 20. No money is to be paid to any person not on the active list, nor to any person not over 64 years of age, nor to any person who fails to qualify as to fitness for military service. In time of war, or when war is imminent, or other grave emergency, the president may by order transfer to the army any portion of the organized militia receiving, or entitled to receive, the benefits of the act to serve therein for the balance of their respective terms of enlistment or commissions. Such part of the militia will be a part of the army.

SEEKS WAYS TO ABOLISH WAR

Baroness Bertha von Suttner of Vienna, famous among other things because it was she who inspired the founding of the Nobel prizes, is in America on a mission unique among those undertaken by women of the Old World among the women of the New. She is here to tell her sisters what she knows of the horrors of war and to appeal to the women of the United States to do their utmost toward the abolition of war. The campaign for peace undertaken last spring by Baron d'Estournelles de Constant of France was noteworthy. For three months Baron d'Estournelles, himself a Nobel prize winner, went through the country, and everywhere his arguments were heard with interest. So also in the case of Count Albert Apponyi people crowded to hear what the Hungarian parliamentarian had to say about the cost of armed peace now prevailing in Europe. But, much as these advocates for peace accomplished here, there stood arrayed against them continually the plea of necessity, the plea that ever increasing armaments were an absolute essential. Neither the Frenchman nor the Hungarian cared to depart from parliamentary usages, and for this reason they permitted their arguments to go before the people exactly for what they were worth.

The Baroness von Suttner comes to this country to try different tactics. She may agree with her fellow workers in Europe that the nations are burdened with armaments to the breaking point, that the patience of the people themselves is well nigh exhausted, that the times portend that conditions cannot continue as at present; but she has something more effective at her command than international law and parliamentary argument. Her most effective appeal will be to sentiment. As one who knows from experience the horrors of war, the Baroness von Suttner will be able to make this appeal effectively. C. P. NEILL, THE STRIKE FIXER

Perhaps no man in the United States, or in the whole world, occupies such a happy position between the mighty industrial elements—capital and labor—as does Dr. Charles P. Neill, commissioner of labor, who has averted scores of large strikes, involving thousands upon thousands of men, through his remarkable tact and ability to solve economic problems. Since 1906 Commissioner Neill has been instrumental in settling 47 controversies, directly involving 163,000 employees and 505,850 miles of railroad. Born in Illinois in 1865, the future "strike fixer" was taken to Texas by his parents five years later. He now prides himself on the fact that he is a Texan, and in fact was known in college as "The Tall Mesquite of the Rio Grande." After a brilliant college career, Dr. Neill was appointed instructor of political economy at the Catholic University in Washington, and took an active interest in civic affairs, besides serving as recorder in several coal strike arbitrations. He had much to do with the settlement of the anthracite coal strike of 1902, the adjustment of the miners' strike troubles in Nevada in 1907, the averting of a nation-wide telegraphers' strike, and the story of his intervention and mediation has been the same in each case—peace restored.

CHAIN UP YOUR DOG

If You Want Letter Carriers To Deliver Your Mail

WASHINGTON, July 10th.—Within the past few weeks the watch dogs of the country have developed such a marked fondness for chewing up mail carriers that the Postoffice Department was moved today to call attention to the regulations which provide that a carrier is not required to deliver mail at residences where vicious dogs are permitted to run at large. Persons keeping such dogs must call at the Postoffice for their mail.

This paragraph in the regulations will be strictly applied from now on, and the owners of dogs must either put them on a diet or keep them locked up if they want mail delivered at their houses.

CALF'S BODY; HUMAN FACE

Freak of Nature is Brought From Ashland to Cincinnati
Cincinnati Times-Star.

What is considered one of the greatest freaks of nature ever seen in Cincinnati was brought from Ashland, Ky., Wednesday, by Dr. Edward Penning. The freak has the body of a calf but the face of a human being. The creature was born several days ago and lived but a few hours. "This is one of the rarest specimens ever born," said Dr. Penning, "and it will be presented to some museum as a curiosity."

The body of the monstrosity was taken to Max Wocher's son's establishment on West Sixth avenue, where it was prepared for preservation.

SADDLE HORSES

Will Be An Important Exhibit at Lexington This Year.

Outstanding in importance among the live stock features of the Blue Grass Fair are the two divisions of the National Saddle Horse Futurities to be contested at Lexington on Tuesday, August 13th, and Wednesday, August 14th. On Tuesday the division for foals of 1912, and on Wednesday the one for 1911 division.

This stake was inaugurated last year by the Saddle and Horse Show Chronicle, and proved to be the best and most exciting exhibition ever given in any ring at any fair, there being 51 exhibits.

The renewal of 1911 stake for yearlings, and inaugural of 1912 Futurity, under same conditions as last year are already causing widespread interest throughout the country. The approximate value of each is $1,000, to be divided among the ten best colts or fillies.

The two rings of themselves would make Tuesday and Wednesday the banner days of the Fair.

Three other stakes for saddle horse are also provided: one for $250 for five-gaited saddle horses, any age; one of $200 for five-gaited saddle horses, three years old and under; and one of $200 for three-gaited saddle horse and under. These stakes are always hotly contested and to every lover of the horse are worth going miles to see.

ATTENTION, MEN!

Let M. McNamara make your Spring Suit. I represent E. W. Price & Co. of Chicago, the standard of the nation in menswear. They are the world at popular prices. They specialize on suits made as you want them from $15 to $25. Duber must ask $10 to $12 for the same. This is the only house in the United States strong enough financially to control its own patterns, thus assuring you against cheaply made suits. Ask from the states, not from the states. Men, this line is a revelation. Run, don't walk, to this line.

Moreover this line is as good as it looks. Because it is made of drawn steel tubing, very light in weight—extremely strong.

A child can move this bed with the greatest ease. Come in and see this bed. Then you will realize how good it is.
